Equality

Our commitment to promoting equality and inclusion applies to all areas of our work, including employment practices and service provision.

CACT are fully aware of, and comply with their responsibilities under the Equality Act 2010, to ensure that no unlawful discrimination occurs on the grounds of Protected Characteristics. Discrimination refers to unfavourable treatment on the basis of 'Protected Characteristics', as defined under the Equality Act 2010, both at work and also in access to goods, facilities and services. CACT is committed to promoting equality and social inclusion. CACT recognise that certain groups and communities remain marginalised, in terms of equality of opportunities and social outcomes. Equality legislation exists both to protect people, and to try and advance equality and inclusion. CACT recognise that diversity and the promotion of inclusive and equality practices will help to overcome this disparity.

CACT also have a dedicated, cross-sector, multi-agency Equality Diversity & Inclusion Advisory Board, consisting of representatives from key groups with Protected Characteristics. This partnership network helps to widen participation, and increase the reach into the community. It provides bridges between different sectors, organisations and service providers who work with different groups with Protected Characteristics, and with communities who are excluded and under-represented. This helps us to ensure that key marginalised groups are engaged and included in our programmes.
